Starring Shah Rukh Khan, Deepika Padukone and Ranbir Kapoor in the lead roles, it also features Alia Bhatt and Rajkummar Rao. The film was released on 18 May 2014 and received mostly negative reviews from critics. After the release of My Name is Khan in 2009, which was a hit at the box office, Johar started to make movies which have no cinema history, but are known for their unique personalities. He set his directing team to make the movie with a fresh perspective. After the success of My Name is Khan, Johar and director Mathew, along with producer Anurag Kashyap, began thinking about the script for the next film.

Kashyap suggested an idea about an inter-caste love story. After seeing Alia Bhatt on television, they wanted to cast her in a lead role for her performance on the small screen. The director and producer then chose to cast Shah Rukh Khan as the male lead for his international and commercial appeal. After noticing Padukone's talent, the pair, Kashyap and Johar wanted her to be in the movie for the lead role. Meanwhile, Kashyap was offered a role as a producer in the movie. Deepika Padukone was cast as the female lead after considering the chemistry between Khan and Padukone. Ranbir Kapoor was cast as the male lead after Kashyap saw him perform in Omkara. Shah Rukh Khan and Alia Bhatt met and started to work on the movie. The film is the second collaboration between Khan and Padukone after Yeh Jawaani Hai Deewani. After the release of Phata Poster Nikhla Hero, Johar announced that the two would be working on their second movie together. Hasee Toh Phasee (English: A Ghost and a Crocodile) is a 2014 Indian romantic comedy film co-written and directed by Vinil Mathew, and produced by Karan Johar and Anurag Kashyap. It is the first of two films to be produced by the duo, who also share the director's role. Starring Shah Rukh Khan and Deepika Padukone in lead roles, the film also stars Ranbir Kapoor and Alia Bhatt. It is the third collaboration between the four actors after Johar's My Name is Khan, Alia's Dilwale and also Kapoor 82157476af
